BRITISH SCIENTIST ASTONISHED.

EXPECTED A "WASH-OUT": GOT 100 PER CENT. PROOF.

APPARATUS FOR LONDON.

The British Empire Cancer Campaign has investigated the claims of Dr. Bendien, the Dutch doctor, whose discoveries in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer have created world-wide interest, and has established that his method of diagnosis is 100 per cent. correct.

Dr. Alfred Piney, secretary of the Campaign's Investigation Committee, who supervised a searching test at Dr. Bendien's headquarters at Zeist, Holland, was so impressed that he is having the necessary apparatus installed at the Cancer Hospital, Fulham. From 38 sealed tubes containing the blood of cancer patients, persons suffering from other diseases and persons in good health, Dr. Bendien identified the five specimens infected with cancer. Below Dr. Bendien and Piney, speak of the test and its consequences.

DR. BENDIEN ON HIS SUCCESS.

I hope for the sake of humanity, writes Dr. Bendien in a London journal, that I have now fully justified my claims.

If I have, as I believe, done so, then we are on the threshold of a new era in the treatment of cancer.

A few weeks ago the British Empire Cancer Campaign wrote to me asking if I would permit one of their representatives to come to Zeist to investigate my methods of diagnosis. I replied that I was willing to submit to any test they wished to set me.

Dr. Piney brought with him 38 test tubes containing specimens of blood some contained the blood of cancer patients, others did not.

I was asked to put the specimens to my tests and to diagnose those containing the cancer.

Even Dr. Piney did not know their contents, and the sealed envelope containing the secret was handed to an independent witness.

First of all, I allowed the specimens to rest for 24 hours. Then I made my chemical tests, which take another 24 hours, and finally submitted the specimens to the spectro-photometric analysis, which takes an hour and a half.

This last process means that I take photographs of the serum through a spectroscopic instrument which gives a spectrum analysis from which, by means of measurements and calculations, I am able to identify the presence of cancer.

When I had completed my report we opened the sealed envelope and compared the results. It was a dramatic moment. Yes, and I was 100 per cent. correct.

And now I am awaiting the official report of the British Empire Cancer Campaign, which is to be published when Dr. Piney's report has been considered in London. I am hoping that I shall receive the official backing of the Campaign.

At End of Resources.

The success of the test has come in the nick of time, for I am now at the end of my resources. For 15 years I have worked incessantly to find a diagnosis and cure for cancer.

I have spent the whole of my private fortune on the work and I am now almost penniless. To carry on the work to its triumphant conclusion laboratories and assistants are needed. I must be allowed to continue my scientific work uninterrupted and for that reason I am taking no more patients for the present.

Only recently I have had applications to treat another 30 patients from different parts of the world—but that work must now be done by other doctors. Shortly I hope to come to London to consult with your cancer experts, but in the meantime I need a rest, for I am very, very tired.

MANCHESTER BANK TO PAY £5,000

AN ALTERED CHEQUE.

An action arising out of an altered cheque was decided by Mr. Justice Wright in the King's Bench Division when he awarded £5,000 damages against District Bank Limited, of Manchester.

The plaintiffs were the four executors of the will of the late Mr. Harry Turner, of Oxford Road, Macclesfield, who in December, 1929, drew a cheque for £5,000 on the defendant bank to purchase War Loan. Between the name of the payee and the words on the cheque "or order" there was a space in which without the executors' knowledge their solicitor, Mr. James Cumberbidge, added the words "per Cumberbidge and Potts." Cumberbidge endorsed the cheque "Cumberbidge and Potts" and paid it into another account, so that the stock brokers received no money and the executors no scrip.

The executors alleged that the bank were negligent in paying out on the altered cheque, but the bank contended that they had acted in the normal way of business.

Mr. Justice Wright held that the bank were not justified in law in accepting a cheque which bore an endorsement not exactly corresponding with the mandate on the face of the cheque. He also found that the alteration by Cumberbidge was a forgery and outside his authority. Cumberbidge's dishonesty was not discovered until about March, 1930, when he absconded and had not been heard of since. Holding that the executors could not be expected to have guarded against such a forgery, and that it was not a thing they could have anticipated, Mr. Justice Wright added that they could be held liable for the fraud of Cumberbidge. Judgment was entered for the executors with costs.

THE KENT WOOD CRIME.

SALVAGE SENT FOR TRIAL.

ANOTHER ALLEGED STATEMENT.

A further statement, alleged to have been made by the accused was read when Arthur James Faraday Salvage, 23, of Sunningdale, Rickings, Kent, appeared at Ashford Police-court charged with the murder on July 3 of Ivy Mary Godden, aged 12.

It was as follows:

"I was waiting outside the front gate when I saw Ivy Godden coming along. I asked her into the place, and there I did this. I carried her out of the place and took her down into the wood and buried her."

"This all happened before Peter Godden, jun., came to see me and asked if I had seen her."

When the hearing was resumed Mr. H. J. Parham (for the Director of Public Prosecutions) recalled Superintendent W. J. Robertson, who said that after Salvage had been taken into custody at Sunningdale he was brought by car to Ashford, accompanied by himself, Detective-superintendent Avery and Detective-constable Heathfield. During the journey there, was no conversation on the case between witness and Salvage. The defendant was crying in the car, and all that was said was by Mr. Avery, who asked Salvage, if he had a handkerchief.

When left alone with the defendant at the police-station the witness said, "I am sorry, old man, but we have got to do our duty." Salvage replied, "Mr. Robertson, I am sorry."

At this point Mr. Henry Flint (for Salvage) asked that, owing to the statements which had been made, the cross-examination of the police witnesses should be held in camera.

The Bench decided that the hearing should proceed in the ordinary way. Mr. Parham questioned the witness about the defendant's alleged statement, and Superintendent Robertson said that no question was put to Salvage to invite the statement.

The chairman (Sir Charles Igleston) said that as the alleged statement was voluntary it was admissible.

Superintendent Robertson said that as Superintendent Avery entered the door at the police-station Salvage said, "Mr. Avery, I want to be straight with you for the sake of my mother. I did this."

"Then," continued witness, "Mr. Avery cautioned him and asked him if he understood it. He said that he did, and Mr. Avery asked if he would make a statement in writing. Salvage asked that Mr. Avery should write it. This he did. After writing the introductory lines he again asked Salvage if he understood it, and he replied, 'Yes.'"

Mr. Parham then read the alleged statement, which is quoted above. Superintendent Robertson said that in his own handwriting Salvage added, "I have read the above statement and it is true." He signed the statement and later, when charged, said: "I say the same as I said before—the same as I said in that statement."

A legal adviser arrived at the police-station about midnight, but when asked if he would see him Salvage said, "Definitely no." Next morning a telegram arrived, and when he had read it Salvage said: "I don't want any defence. It is no good. I killed her in my bed-room when mother was out. I buried her that night. Her hat I buried in the garden patch." Salvage replied to the telegram, "Don't come to court."

Replying to Mr. Flint, Supt. Robertson said that when he went to arrest Salvage at Rickings, he was out playing cricket. He knew

FRANCE AND THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

LACK OF FUNDS.

France will not participate in the Olympic games at Los Angeles in 1932. This was the decision taken at a general meeting of the French Olympic Council, and unless the Government appears in the form of a deus ex machina to change the situation the decision will be maintained.

Without a subsidy the various sports federations cannot undertake the work of training the team that would do battle at the Los Angeles stadium for France's colours, and without training it would be suicidal to send a team at all.

where he was and waited for him to return.

Referring to the statement alleged to have been made by Salvage, Supt. Robertson said that there were five people, including Salvage and his mother, present at the time. The statement was taken while they were seated round a table. He remembered the caution being given quite well and the fact that Salvage's mother made a joke about it.

Mr. Flint asked Supt. Robertson whether, when Salvage was crying in the car, he tried to comfort him.

"No, I did not comfort him," said Supt. Robertson, who denied that Salvage said, "I am out to help in any way I can."

Mr. Flint: Did you say to Salvage, "I am talking to you now as man to man, not as a police officer"?—No. He knows I am a police officer.

Sir Bernard Spilsbury.

Sir Bernard Spilsbury detailed the results of a post-mortem examination. He said that death was caused by shock following bruises on the head and neck. He thought the bruises were caused a few minutes before death. They could have been caused by some blunt instrument.

Mr. Parham: Could the fist have caused them?—Yes.

Or this exhibit (producing a piece of wood) ?—Yes, if used on the flat side.

There was no indication, Sir Bernard said, that the body was tied up during life, or played any part in causing death. He found no sign of an attempt at intercourse.

Mr. F. W. Arnaud, county analyst for Kent, gave the results of an examination of a bundle of clothing, a bed cover, and a spade. There was nothing calling for comment regarding any of the objects, he said, except the bed cover, on which he found a small weak blood-stain.

Examination was also made of socks which Mr. Parham said were taken from the girth-house at Salvage's bungalow and from the dead girl's body. He found goat hairs in each sock.

Superintendent Avery said that on Sunday afternoon, July 3, he saw Salvage, and took a long statement from him.

Mr. Parham: It describes principally the part which he took in the search for the little girl. I do not think it germane to the proceedings, and I do not propose to read it except for two passages. These passages were:

"About 3.15 on July 3 I was planting cabbages in my kitchen garden. Peter Godden came up to the gate. I asked if he was going to cricket. I had not seen Ivy." "The wood adjoining my garden is mine. It was searched yesterday. I know Ivy Godden. I do not remember when I last saw her. It was one day last week. I then saw her with other children outside the post office."

This closed the case for the prosecution.

Salvage was thereupon formally charged, and through his solicitor pleaded not guilty and reserved his defence. He was committed for trial to the next sessions of the Central Criminal Court. He will await his trial at Brixton Prison.

MORE CHILDREN OF HEALTHY PARENTS.

WOMAN DOCTOR ON WORLD'S NEED.

FITNESS TO MARRY
CERTIFICATES.

Glasgow.—A higher birth-rate among the healthy and intelligent members of the community, together with a much reduced rate among those who spread tuberculosis, insanity, heart disease, and have generally a low physical and mental standard, is what the world requires to-day.

Dr. Stella Churchill uttered this dictum at the Royal Sanitary Institute Congress, when she boldly advocated health certificates as a preliminary to marriage. Her chief suggestions were:

A policy of publicity between prospective parents as to family histories in the matter of health. Schools should make hygiene and physiology a fascinating study. Voluntary bureaux for health certificates to those proposing to wed should be set up in the large towns.

Knowledge of heredity, Dr. Churchill said, has been elaborately worked out for the better production of sweet peas, rabbits, hens, and other creatures, but when we come to the breeding of human beings the problem was much more obscure.

The question of birth control, or family limitation, was intimately associated with this question. Too often the most healthy stocks were unduly limited, while others, who had a poor, if not diseased, heredity, took no such steps.

The Wrong Limitation.

Could the idea of health certificates be applied practically to child welfare work? She did not think it need be a very long or difficult process, if the idea once received the support of teachers, parents, and health visitors.

There is to-day an almost entire lack of knowledge of personal hygiene and anatomy among lay persons," she added. "Even the most advanced young people of to-day are ignorant of their physiology, if unduly acquainted with a smattering of information regarding some of their psychological processes."

Dr. Elizabeth Mudie (Glasgow) said the only class for which they really should advocate birth control—the uneducated, the untutored, the unfit, and the unwilling to be fit—were too lazy to follow advice.

"The only people who are practicing birth control are those whom we wish to procreate the race."

"These people are restricting themselves to one in a family, and will not allow two blades of grass to grow where three grew before."

"Those for whom we advocate birth control," added Dr. Mudie, "will take no steps whatever—not even to the keeping of their bodies clean."

"They know perfectly well that if there is nothing in the cupboard, and not a rag for the child, they have only to send to the hospital and to the welfare department, and their wants are supplied."

Professor's Progeny.

Dr. Lyons, a foreign delegate, said that with their present inadequate knowledge on the subject of sterilisation it would be unwise to impose measures upon the population which might do infinite harm. He illustrated the difficulties which faced them by telling of a professor, with a very intelligent wife, who had two feeble-minded children, while feeble-minded parents often produced intelligent children.

100 TESTS IN LONDON.

Training Doctors.

Quite frankly, writes Dr. Alfred Pacey, I went to Zeist expecting that this method of cancer diagnosis would turn out to be a complete wash-out, as most of the others have done. To my surprise, it was a complete success.

Dr. Bendien made no promise that that he would be 100 per cent. successful. He said he hoped that he would be, and, well he was.

It was impossible at this early stage to say what the value of this spectroscopic method of cancer diagnosis will be. It is of immediate practical importance in the diagnosis of early and obscure cases.

Secondly, it is of great importance because it is an entirely new method of tackling the cancer problem. Its actual importance may be proved to be far more valuable and extensive than appears at present.

I flew across to Zeist and delivered to Dr. Bendien 38 sealed test-tubes. Five of them contained the blood of persons suffering from cancer, a number of others the blood of persons suffering from other diseases and the rest the blood of healthy persons.

Two days later Dr. Bendien delivered to me his signed report, and in his presence I opened the sealed envelope giving the key to the test tubes. Dr. Bendien had diagnosed the five tubes of the blood of cancer patients correctly.

Confidence.

I hope to be in a position to start performing Dr. Bendien's method of diagnosis at an early date.

I have yet to submit the report of the result of my visit to Holland to my committee, and it remains to be seen whether they will give the experiments their practical support.

"I am confident that they will, and I have taken it upon myself to order the necessary apparatus, which will be installed in the Cancer Hospital in Fulham-road."

At the present time I am the only doctor in England who has seen this method, and I shall carry out the first tests in England myself.

Then I shall train a number of assistants to carry on. If it is proved that the tests are valuable it is necessary that there should be a large number of medical men in England able to carry them out.

The method of diagnosis is simple, but it is rather laborious and lengthy. Each test takes about an hour and a half.

I propose to carry out 100 separate tests and then make a further report to my committee. There is no doubt that if Dr. Bendien's method of diagnosis is proved to be completely successful, the apparatus will be in use in every big hospital in England within a short while.

DECLARATIONS.

COWBRIDGE DECISION
ILLEGAL.

With reference to the incident in the recent match between Glamorgan and Northamptonshire at Cowbridge, the M.C.C. committee have decided that law 34 was broken, and are giving instructions to all concerned so as to ensure there shall be no repetition.

M. J. Turnbull, the Glamorgan captain, it will be recalled, declared his innings closed when only forty minutes remained for play instead of an hour and forty minutes, as provided in the laws of the game.

It will be for the Advisory County Cricket Committee to consider the effect of this contravention of the law on the county championship of 1931, and to submit their recommendations to the M.C.C.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

"A TAILOR MADE MAN."

The inimical William Haines appears in a fun-riot in "A Tailor Made Man," which commenced its run at the Queen's Theatre yesterday and will be screened until Wednesday. The film is full of humorous situations of the Haines type, and although the plot is far-fetched, the story goes with a swing and there is hardly a dull moment throughout the film. Haines, in the story, starts as a "panta presser" in a tailor shop. He has had better jobs, but "panta-pressing" was the only job he could hold at the time the story begins. A young man with plenty of ideas, he "borrows" a dress suit left to be pressed and invades a social function, where the fun begins. He meets a merchant-prince and manages to impress the magnate with his ideas.

He lands a big executive position and then lands himself in a mess, but in characteristic Haines fashion he comes through with flying colours, but not before he has given the audience plenty of hilarity.

The supporting cast includes Dorothy Jordan, Joseph Cawthorn, and Marjorie Rambeau.

"WAY FOR A SAILOR."

At last Wallace Beery, famed in filmland as the most incorrigible of "picture stealers," has met his Waterloo.

The victor over Beery's rubberized facial contortions is a baby seal, picked up in Catalina waters by a whaling ship used in sea scenes for "Way for a Sailor." John Gilbert's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talkie which will open at the Queen's Theatre on Thursday.

Director Sam Wood put the seal in a scene with Beery. No matter how hard Beery barked or smirked the seal went him one better, "stealing" all his laughs.

Leila Hyams plays opposite Gilbert in the new film and the supporting cast includes Jim Tully, Polly Moran and Doris Lloyd.

KING'S THEATRE.

"THE LAWYER'S SECRET."

"The Lawyer's Secret," now showing at the King's Theatre, an excellently acted drama that keeps the interest steadily at peak.

Charles Rogers makes his initial appearance in a dramatic rôle in "The Lawyer's Secret." He does his job in a stirring manner.

Not in the handsome Rogers portrayal overshadowed by the acting of Clive Brook and Richard Arlen in the conflicting rôles. Brook, as a perplexed lawyer in whom love and duty and an appealing human desire fight for mastery, carries the motivating rôle of the drama. In love with Fay Wray, he is forced to conceal from her, as well as the world, his knowledge that Rogers, her brother, is really guilty of a crime for which Arlen is on trial for his life. Jean Arthur, as Arlen's sweetheart, handles the rôle with her usual convincing ability.

"TARNISHED LADY."

"Tarnished Lady," which will show at the King's Theatre next, marks the motion picture debut of Tallulah Bankhead.

Co-starred with Clive Brook, the suave English actor, Miss Bankhead comes to the screen already a star. Born in the United States, the daughter of a Congressman, William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, she left the United States for England after a brief but successful career on the American stage. Eight years in London brought her such fame that numerous offers to appear in motion pictures were made to her. Recently she accepted Paramount's offer, and made her motion picture bow in "Tarnished Lady."

The story of "Tarnished Lady," written by Donald Ogden Stewart, who prepared the dialogue for "Laughter," is suited to the personality of its star. An impoverished member of New York's "400" marries for money, although frankly in love with a struggling young writer, Alexander Kirkland. Three months later she fails to wipe out her affection for Kirkland, and she decides to tell Brook everything and end their marriage. Brook, facing bankruptcy, believes she is leaving him to avoid the consequences of his financial crash, and is bitter about it. Kirkland meanwhile, has found another attraction.

Disillusioned, cut off from her husband, Miss Bankhead is thrown on her own resources. Her efforts to support herself are hampered by inexperience. Osgood Perkins, a mutual friend of Brook and Miss Bankhead, tries to bring them together, but Brook is already planning to marry an heiress to save himself from financial ruin. On the brink of this marriage, he meets his wife, and realizes that the step he is about to take parallels her earlier move. They both ask forgiveness and begin again.

WHY MRS. BOULTER WAS ACQUITTED.PROSECUTOR'S APPEAL
DISMISSED.

Cairo.—The appeal by the Public Prosecutor against the acquittal of Mrs. Simone Boulter, who was charged with the murder of Dr. Cuno Hofer, the Hungarian author, has been rejected by the High Court. Mrs. Boulter, fully cleared of the charge against her, is now on her way to Paris.

Mrs. Boulter's declaration that she did not intend to kill Dr. Hofer, but wished to commit suicide, was fully accepted by the court, says a statement. The court, it is stated, accepted both this and all her other declarations regarding the critical period preceding the death of Dr. Hofer.

In order to judge of the accused's responsibility, the court was obliged to work hand in hand with the medical experts. The conviction was reached that at least as many and as good reasons spoke for as against the conclusion that she was not responsible for her actions.

In case of doubt the judge has to pronounce in favour of the accused, continues the statement. As the admission of non-responsibility excluded any punishment, an acquittal followed as a matter of course, in accordance with Paragraph 63 of the Penal Code.

The court understands that Mrs. Boulter, who is suffering from serious nervous depression, will be admitted immediately to a sanatorium for psycho-therapeutic treatment for a year.

A CAPTAIN AND LADY
GLENAPP.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE.

In the Divoré Court, before Mr. Justice Bateson, Mrs. Florence Clare Beech, giving an address at Palace-mansions, Addison Bridge, Kensington, formerly of Brandon Hall, Coventry, was granted a decree nisi for divorce from Capt. Douglas Charles Murray Beech on the ground of his adultery with Lady Glenapp.

The case was undefended. Capt. and Mrs. Beech were married at Holy Trinity, Upper Chelsea, in May 1915, and lived at Brandon Hall, and elsewhere.

Mrs. Beech's case was that she and her husband were happy at first, but in 1925 she had to complain of his association with other women. They separated for a time and came together again, but in July, 1930, she found that he was paying attention to Lady Glenapp. He admitted that he was very much in love with Lady Glenapp, and went away with her.

Adultery between respondent and Lady Glenapp was alleged to have occurred at a Paris hotel.

Other Proceedings. Mr. Justice Bateson: Have there been some other proceedings in regard to this matter.

Mr. Bayford, K.C. (for petitioner). Yes. Lord Glenapp (only son of the Earl of Inchcape) has taken proceedings in Scotland, and obtained a decree on the same facts.

HEADMASTER SHOT.
TRAGEDY IN ARMOURY.

Guisborough.—The Rev. T. F. H. Berwick, headmaster of Guisborough Grammar School, was found shot dead late at night in a hut in the school grounds.

The building in which the tragedy occurred was used as the armoury and stores of the school cadet corps. One of the masters, Mr. Henry Lewis Savage, garaged his motorcycle in the hut, and returning from a run about 10.40 p.m., opened the door to put his machine away. As he did so the headlights shone on the dead body of the headmaster, sitting huddled in a corner with a wound in his head.

Doctors and the police were immediately summoned. By the side of the dead man was found an old emptying can, such as is used by the boys of the cadet corps in their drills and shooting practice. It had been fired and contained a spent cartridge.

School Closed. Mr. J. H. Lowe, the senior master, stated that Mr. Berwick seemed in the best of health and spirits when he was watching the old boys, match. The school was to break up at the end of the week, but owing to the tragedy the boys were turned away when they arrived at the school the following morning. The deceased, who had been principal of Guisborough School since 1905 and served in France with the T.M.C.A. was 55, and leaves a widow and four children.

Conquer "Nerves"

(Irritability, listlessness, stomach trouble.)

Nerve-weakness causes bad transmission of the nerve impulses and may result in the irregular functioning of almost every organ of the body. Irritable nerves, digestive troubles, stomach pains, sleeplessness—all these different complaints are due to one and the same cause: "Nerve-Weakness," and can only be conquered by strengthening and feeding up the very nerves of the body.

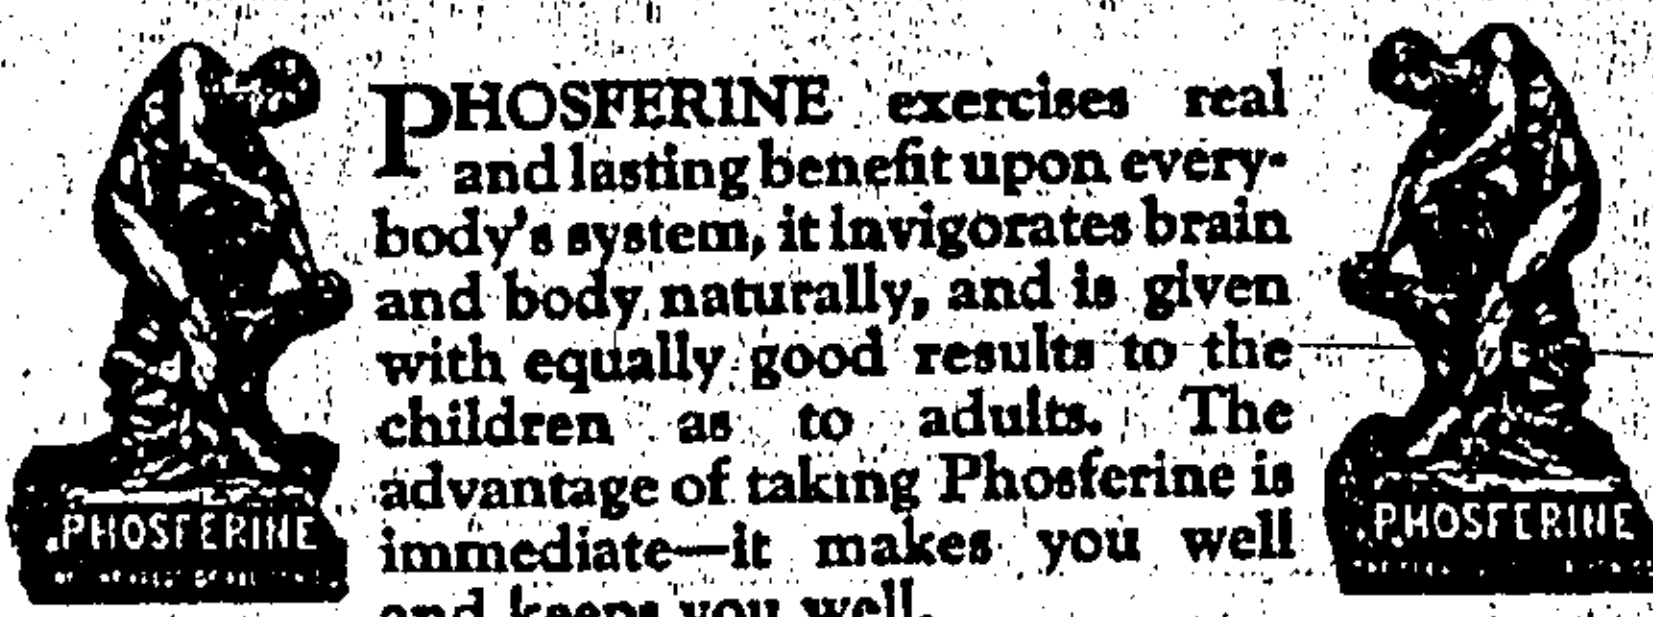

With Sanatogen, which is a nerve food, you go to the very core of the complaint, you strengthen the nerve-fibres, revitalize the nerve-cells, you put new strength and health into nerves which now play such tricks on you.

"It is years since I felt so well and happy. I was full of pain and depression through indigestion and nervousness, but now through Sanatogen, the world and all that is in it is brighter and more cheerful," so wrote a lady-user who had taken Sanatogen for six weeks.

Start taking Sanatogen now and for you too the world will soon become a better and brighter place, you will feel healthy and strong again. Red cheeks and a healthy appetite will show you what Sanatogen has done for you.

REVENGE OR ROBBERY?

ELDERLY CHINESE BADLY CUT ABOUT.

As a result of a report made to the police yesterday to the effect that an elderly Chinese residing at an unnumbered match at Lung Tai Ha, Tsun Wan, was badly cut about the body and wounded, officers are on the lookout for four Chinese who are suspected to have committed the crime. Two of the men—Sun Yuet-sang and Sun Muk-tang—are known to the police but the other two are not known, and they are jointly wanted for cutting and wounding Cheung-tin, aged 23, at his match at about 4.30 p.m. yesterday. The motive of the crime is not known and while some are of the opinion that the men went to the match with intent to commit a robbery, others seem to think that revenge prompted their action. Full details of the case, however, were not available up till a late hour last night. The man was sent to the hospital immediately the misdeed was discovered but it could not be ascertained whether his condition was regarded as serious. Meanwhile the police are investigating the case.

After the heat, as evening gives itself up to the cool, somnolent dark and the open glare of day is broken into shaded pools of lamp-light, comfort slowly creeps over everything. It gets first into the long chairs on the verandah, then into the talk—making it slower, richer, more reflective. The companionable silences lengthen as the mellow Scotch whisky, Johnnie Walker, that's sipped in those silences, claims its right to be pondered over by the palate.

REDS EXPELLED BY UNIONS.

DRASTIC ACTION OF ENGINEERS.

Both the Amalgamated Engineering Union and the Electrical Trades Union have taken the extreme measure of expelling from trade union membership individuals who, in defiance of warnings, have persisted in Communist propaganda against decisions of the unions.
The case of the A.E.U. is especially interesting, because one of the six "Red" propagandists to be expelled is a member for whom the union made a notable fight when he was dismissed from employment in Woolwich Arsenal because of Communist activity.
A second striking feature of the engineer case is that Jack Tanner, who contested the presidency as an Extremist is still a member of the executive committee of the Minority Movement. He has given satisfactory assurances to the A.E.U. and has been reinstated to his official position in the London area. This has annoyed the Minority Movement exceedingly, and they will decide their course of action in the near future. Two expulsions by the Electrical Trades Union are on account of defiant agitation at Dagenham.

TRAFFIC IN HORSES.

BILL TO STOP BUTCHERY ABROAD.

Miss Lloyd George, Sir Robert Gower, Sir Robert Hutchison, Sir George Ockerill, Commander Locker-Lampson, and Sir Robert Newman are among the supporters of the bill introduced in the House of Commons by Mr. Broad, the Labour M.P. for Edmonton, to amend the law with respect to the exportation of horses.
The bill differs to some extent from that introduced last December, and contains a new proposal to ensure that in future no horse shall be exempt from the requirement that, immediately before shipment, it must be examined by the veterinary inspector appointed for that purpose and certified in writing to be capable of being conveyed and disembarked without cruelty and of being worked without suffering. Subject to this veterinary examination and certificate the export of any young and valuable horse will be permitted, as well as the export of any "aged" horse so long as it is of greater value than £25 and is shipped in order to be used as a remount, or for breeding, racing, showing, or similar purposes. The object of the measure is to establish a trade in dead meat for export in place of the existing traffic in live horses for butchery abroad.

SYDNEY HARBOUR

BRIDGE.

FILM MADE OF FIVE YEARS' WORK.

Mr. Lawrence Ennis, a director of Messrs. Dorman, Long, and Co., Ltd., who is in charge of the erection of the huge Sydney Harbour bridge, gave an address on the five years' work to members of the Middlesbrough Rotary Club. He said that before the actual work of erection could be begun they needed granite, and he commended an Aberdonian friend in Australia who had some knowledge of granite. They made their way into the bush of the Moruya district, some 210 miles from Sydney, and there discovered granite. They imported quarrymen from Britain and had to build a village and establish a self-supporting community. Using timber cut on their own land, they built houses and fitted them out with furniture and domestic appliances, even down to knives and forks, at an inclusive cost of £225 per house.

They had to build a co-operative store and a school. The latter had soon to be enlarged, and there were now 150 little Australian-Aberdonians who had been born there.

The bridge was now approaching completion. A film of the work from beginning to end had been taken, and he had given instructions that it should first be shown in Middlesbrough.

APPRENTICE IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

Five men and an apprentice were burned in an explosion at the works of the Wollingham Steel Company, County Durham. The boy, John Pihourne (16), was rushed to the Newcastle Infirmary in a critical condition.

The injured foundry workers were George Nesbitt, Frank Turnbull, H. F. Coulthard, A. Bowry, and F. Ford. They were medically treated at the works and allowed to go home.

The men were working a converter and Bowry, who was in charge, decided that, as it was not working satisfactorily, he had better blow off. He had just reduced the blast when the explosion occurred. The full charge of two tons of molten metal was flung over the foundry to a distance of 50 yards. The clothing of several men caught fire and they had to discard it in a frantic dash for the open air.

This was the second explosion in a week. Recently ladle containing two tons of molten metal exploded and five men were injured.

KWONGSANG WRECK.
ECHOES.THREE SURVIVORS AT FOOCHOW.

H.M.S. SEPOY'S REPORTS:

It is reported from Foochow that the three Chinese members of the crew of the Kwongsang arrived there yesterday by junk, and are leaving for Shanghai on the s.s. Wanhsiang. This news contained in a telegram received by Messrs Jardine Matheson and Co., Ltd., from their Foochow agents; further details were not given; but it is understood that a later message giving a more comprehensive account of the survivors is expected at any time.

Chinese Authorities Co-operating.
The Chinese naval authorities, in response to a request from the Commander of the Sepoy, are co-operating with the destroyer in a search for survivors of the disaster, and are concentrating their efforts in the vicinity of Inog and Fuyun Islands, and Funing Bay. They hope also to locate the exact position of the foundering of the Kwongsang.

The Chinese shore authorities, it is understood, are prosecuting enquiries in the district. In a communication of August 21 the Commander of the Sepoy stated that he understood that the Chinese fleet was concentrated in the region of Santu Inlet, and that he proposed to ask Admiral Chen, who was believed to be in command, for help in searching for possible survivors south of Goodridge Point. That his request was readily acceded to is evidenced by the fact that both the Chinese naval and shore authorities are assisting the Commander of the Sepoy in his search.

Rumours of Identification False.
This officer, in his latest message reporting the progress of the search, states that the rumour stating that two bodies of victims of the sinking of the Kwongsang had been identified should be denied as absolutely false, as in no case have any of the bodies recovered been identified. Signals between the Kwongsang and the Kumsang, transmitting the rumour from one to the other were intercepted by the Sepoy, and this provoked the Commander of the destroyer to issue the above emphatic disclaimer.

The message from the Sepoy also states that on the south shore of Funing Bay, in the vicinity of Low Neck, a search revealed the presence of fifteen graves, the bodies of eleven Chinese, one horse and twenty-three sheep, in addition to many Indo-China Steam Navigation Company lifebelts. Local fishermen, upon whose word little reliance can be placed, said that one body, which was buried arrived with a cigarette tin containing revolver bullets. These articles were unobtainable, and even if time had permitted the exhumation of all the buried bodies, none could have been identified, life having been extinct for too long a period.

Benary's Lifeboat Recovered.
The only portion of ship wreckage recovered was a very small piece of white enamelled wood. It is the belief of the searchers that any wooden wreckage found by the local inhabitants would have been used by them long since.

Two barriques plugs and one Chinese money pouch were also found. The Commander states that he considers that further search so long after the wreck took place is not likely to be attended with any results of value.

One of the most interesting items of this report has no bearing on the Kwongsang. It deals with the recovery of a lifeboat belonging to the s.s. Benary, which vessel, it will be recalled, lost a boat in the region of the Inog Islands during her fight with the recent typhoon.

The Commander of the Sepoy says, in concluding his report, that he does not consider the junk expedition referred to in a previous communication now necessary.

EUGENE CHEN'S
"LEG-PULL."EVASIVE REPLIES TO THE
PRESS.LIKES JAPANESE RESORTS
VERY MUCH.

Mr. Eugene Chen, who has been on a mission to Japan, passed through the Colony en route for Canton on Saturday. The nature of his business with the Japanese Government has been shrouded in mystery and the outcome of it kept a close secret, so that the zeal of the Daily Press representative who sought him out immediately the Kitano Maru docked at six-thirty in the morning is perhaps pardonable.

Despite the early hour Mr. Chen was already putting the finishing touches to his toilet, prior to embarking on a motor launch which was waiting to convey him to the Canton steamer.

When he emerged from his cabin he was button-holed by our representative and was asked the reason for his mission to Japan. "The Japanese resorts were charming," he replied, "and everything was very nice." A question as to the future policy of his government towards foreign powers met with an equally evasive reply, if reply it could be termed. "I have had a very good time," he said, "and am feeling very fit."

Official Statement from Canton.
Pressed for a definite statement, he smilingly reproved the eager pressman for his breach of the etiquette of Chinese diplomacy. "An official statement will be issued from Canton," said Mr. Chen.

Accompanied by Madame Chen.
Mr. Chen was accompanied by Madame Chen, a petite and vivacious woman in the early twenties, who looked very charming in a European style light flowered frock and large picture hat; her brown suede shoes were of exquisite workmanship, as was the tiny ivory fan she was carrying.

Mr. Eugene Chen is a well-built man of rather less than moderate height, with iron-grey hair and a heavy dark moustache. Despite his apparently highly-strung temperament he seems possessed of a great sense of humour, and a hearty laugh to which he gave full play on the motor launch when a member of his entourage, who had evidently overstepped, dashed along the quay and onto the launch with his suit hastily pulled on over his pyjamas.

The party then left for Hong Kong to make connection with the 8 a.m. steamboat for Canton.

MISSIONARIES MARRIED.

PRETTY WEDDING ON SATURDAY.

Miss Violet Mary Chesworth of Fathian was married to Dr. Neil Duncan Fraser of Swatow on Saturday at the Wesleyan Methodist Church. The Rev. F. Brewster officiated at the ceremony, which was largely attended, the wedding being of particular interest in the mission field.

The bride, who was given away by the Rev. J. C. Knight Anstey, looked charming in a dress of white net and lace. She carried a bouquet of white flowers. The Matron of Honour, Mrs. Knight Anstey, was attired in a dress of blue figured chiffon, and wore a gray and blue hat.

After a reception, the happy couple left for their honeymoon, the bride's travelling dress being of beige lace and georgette. She wore a green hat and beige shoes, and carried a green bag.

All the dresses were executed by Eve, Gloucester Building Arcade.

MOTOR VEHICLES.

AMENDMENTS TO REGULATIONS.

A large number of new or amended traffic regulations is published in the Government Gazette.

Some of the principal changes are as under:

Licences.
Trailers $80
Hand-propelled petrol or oil pumps $80

The driver of a motor omnibus shall ensure that the signalling device referred to in regulation 129 (5) is in good working order and is properly operated, and be responsible if any signal is not duly given.

The driver of a commercial motor vehicle shall ensure that his vehicle is not overloaded and that the load is properly stacked, secured and carried.

Deposit of $200.
Every applicant for a licence for a public vehicle shall, as a condition of the issue of such licence, deposit with the Inspector General of Police the sum of $200.

Public vehicles and commercial motor vehicles shall be inspected by a police officer authorised by the Inspector General of Police.

(1) before being licensed as new vehicles;

(2) on change of ownership;

(3) once monthly.

All reasonable facilities shall be given to every such inspecting officer by the licensee and the driver, and his reasonable requirements shall be complied with by them.

A motor vehicle shall not exceed seven feet six inches in width between its extreme projecting points.

Brakes.

The brakes of a motor vehicle may be tested by any European police officer of the Traffic sub-department not below the rank of sergeant. The licensee and the driver shall give all reasonable facilities for such testing, and the occupants (if any) of the vehicle shall comply with all reasonable requirements of the police officer. Cars may be stopped on the road for such testing of brakes, but, ordinarily, cars will not be stopped for brake test while making a journey.

The substitution of the words "fifteen miles per hour" for the words "twenty miles per hour." The driver of a vehicle passing through any junction or along any road in which there is a centrally placed structure, erection or traffic sign shall only use that part of the roadway on his own left side thereof.

Signalling Device.

A vehicle must be provided with a mechanical signalling device, to the satisfaction of the Inspector General of Police, in good working order, easily seen from the rear, and to be lighted at night, for indicating to following traffic the direction to be taken by the vehicle, and intention to stop the vehicle.

Parking Places.

Hillier Street, west side, between Connaught Road Central and Benham Street.

Wardley Street between Des Vaux Road Central and Connaught Road Central.

Car Park, Salisbury Road, opposite Kowloon Fire Station, Liberty Avenue.

Haiphong Road, north side, at junction of Canton Road.

Waterloo Road from Argyle Street to Prince Edward Road.

Austin Avenue, south side, between Kimberley Road and Chatham Road.

Pedder Street centre of the roadway between Des Vaux Road Central and Connaught Road Central—8 cabs.

Rumsey Street between Des Vaux Road Central and Wing Lok Street, east side—8 cabs.

Junction Wing Lok Street and Des Vaux Road Central, south side—3 cabs.

Yau-mat Ferry Wharf—4 cabs.

This result is entirely attributable to the continued depreciation in trade generally, increased competition, further depreciation in exchange causing higher costs of working and the prevalence of banditry in the neighbourhood of Foochow.

Consulting Committee.—The Committee now consists of the Hon. Mr. J. J. Peterson, the Hon. Mr. C. G. Mackie, and Sir Robert Ho Tung, who retire but offer themselves for re-election.

Auditors.—The accounts have been audited by Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews, and Messrs. Linblad and Davis, who retire but offer themselves for re-election.

CANTON POLITICS
STILL UNCERTAIN.PARTY LEADERS CONFER
IN HONG KONG.

(With Tse Yai Pau.)

Canton, Aug. 23.
Canton politics are still uncertain despite the manifesto of 19th inst., issued by the Canton authorities denying their intention of entering into peace discussion with Nanking. Mr. Wang Ching Wei and other pro-war leaders, including Chang Fat Fui (the "Ironside" leader), Hsu Chung Chi (veteran Kuomintang military general) and the Kwangsi leaders, are reported to have regarded the manifesto as not enough and are pressing for a definite guarantee of Canton's full support in finance and military strength for the coming expedition against Nanking.

Mr. Sun Fo and Dr. Fu Ping Sheng proceeded to Hong Kong on Friday night to meet Mr. Eugene Chen, who arrived in Hong Kong on Saturday morning from Japan, and by the way to hold a meeting on behalf of the moderate-minded Canton leaders with Wang Ching Wei, Chang Fat Fui and Hsu Chung Chi. Wang demanded, among other things, that Kwangtung's finances should be placed under the National Government's control and not in charge of any party group. "General" Chen Tsi Tung's clique is hinted at.

As the discussions yielded no result, Wang Ching Wei and the other two mentioned above have declined Sun Fo's invitation to return to Canton, at least for the time being.

MORE TROUBLE FOR THE PRIME MINISTER.

It is impossible for a humane person not to feel sympathy with the Labour Government at the present time. An awkward session had been successfully weathered and it looked as if the Cabinet were in calm waters until the autumn. But there is a spectre, sinister as any Flying Dutchman, that persistently haunts the political mariner of to-day, no matter how fast he may run before the storm. Britain for many years, in fact ever since the War, has been over-spending, and this has got to stop. The Cabinet knows perfectly well that the nation will not allow itself to drift into bankruptcy. Even if the Government had a Parliamentary majority, such an enormous pressure would be brought to bear that either it would have to resign or apply proper remedies. But the Government has not got a majority. The Liberal Party holds it in the hollow of a very hard, Celtic palm. Two alternatives are open—compromise or resign. There is much to be said for abandoning the 'helm of state' and summoning the water below to take charge. The economies which will be applied in England during the next few years will hurt a large number of people, and make many voters very angry. Axiing public servants and grinding the faces of the non-workers does not make for popularity. When the job has been done by one party, the Opposition can count on being returned on a tidal wave of reaction, which, with luck sets in at about the time of normal trade recovery.

But the more conscientious of the little group of men who form His Majesty's Government do not see things in that light. That earnest Scotsman, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, has a fixed belief in his mission to the world. He feels, as the Elder Pitt and Mr. Gladstone felt, that he is the man of the hour; that he alone can carry through the Disarmament Conference to a successful issue, and can set up a Federal Constitution in India. The Prime Minister believes in those things and he believes no less strongly that let Mr. Winston Churchill get loose and every dream of minimizing armed forces, and of creating a modern democratic state out of India will be shattered. He considers, too, that when it comes to economy at home, the working classes are more likely to do well out of it if a Labour Party is in charge, than if the question were threshed out at the Carlton Club, and the decision imposed by the hard-faced men of the Tory Party. Unfortunately for the Prime Minister, he finds at this moment, when he needs to concentrate every ounce of strength and agility on the situation, that he is in the position of a dog with a kettle tied to its tail—the General Committee of the Trade Union Council, whose moving spirit is Mr. A. J. Cook, the Mad Hatter of British Politics. Apart from the noise it makes there are many resemblances between the General Committee of the Trades Union Council and the kind of kettle that is tied to a dog's tail. The said Committee has told the Government without any equivocation that it will not stand for economies; that it will not permit a cut in doles, and the Government can take the economy programme elsewhere.

"Who," it may be asked, "is this body of men who dare address the King's Ministers in this fashion?" Unfortunately they represent a large bulk of the Labour Party. The General Committee of the Trades Union Council likes to call itself, we believe, the Spear Head of the Labour Movement and such-like things. Moreover, a split between the Trades Unions and the Parliamentary Labour Party might well be the death of the Labour Movement. This great movement has been compared to a megalosaurus, which has a huge body and a very small head. The Trade Union section is the body, and the Parliamentary group from whom Mr. Ramsay MacDonald picks his associates is the head. The two are in conflict, and in danger of separation. To lose one's head is always a serious matter, and to prevent such a catastrophe to the Party it looks as if Mr. Ramsay MacDonald will have to leave higher statesmanship alone and concentrate upon trying to keep his political megalosaurus intact. He is a man of much resource and he may yet succeed in preventing the beast either from shaking off its own head in disgust at the prospect of short commons, or from running amok and being despatched by an exasperated community.

THE IMPORTANCE OF RUBBISH.

A GERMAN expert, who had got up his facts with the meticulous care and conscientiousness of his race made an epoch-making address before the International Conference on Public Cleansing in London. He reported that the largest quantities of refuse were collected from the business districts; in Germany, at any rate, big business would seem to mean fuller dustbins. Regions with a wealthy population came next; the richer you are the more rubbish, apparently, you create. It is among nature's noblemen, the middle classes, where the rubbish yield diminishes; according to the German authority those provident and deserving classes burn as much of their refuse and litter as they can. If their conditions in Germany are anything like their conditions in Britain and Hong Kong common prudence and lack of house-room would suggest that step. In working-class districts the poor, like the business men and the rich, leave the dustbin plenty to do. Why the business regions should produce more rubbish seems, on the face of it, one of life's minor mysteries. It sounds as though waste-paper must be included under the German expert's heading of "refuse," and in that case some of us might become very much "class-conscious" in the matter of rubbish. What of the writing people who surround themselves with that waste-product of their trade, the bookworms who exude paper as more elegant worms exude silk! And there we are on the fringe of the litter problem, or that other painful inquiry into personal tidiness and why some people, like Dr. Quincey, all but immerse themselves in books and papers while others produce no less elegant waste from desks than the daily sweep and dust. Let the business class take his bin; these are political and personal and intimate to be safely discussed in public.

Real Life!

His face was heavy and bloated. He stood clasping a long sharp knife in his hand. The girl was ethereal in her delicate, fairylike beauty. "Have you no heart?" she said gently. The man's fingers tightened on the weapon. "No," he said, his voice harsh and brusque. She sighed. "Then I suppose I shall have to take the liver. Half a pound, please, butcher."

A Worthy Cause!

A charter for South African witch doctors is anticipated by the Johannesburg correspondent of a Home paper. There is a strong feeling among members of the profession that their status should be recognized and safeguarded, and that they should be protected from the activities of white quacks, who have been guilty of curing some of their most worthy patients. It is felt, too, that the public should be protected from the use of instruments such as stethoscopes, for which the Witch Doctor's Research Association have found no clinical justification. Grants-in-aid of the new National College of Witch Doctors are also to be requested from the Government.

Roses.

"The exhibition of the National Rose Society renders it necessary to address to our horticulturists a few sharp words. Will they please cease vying with each other in the production of silly blooms? For, in fact, the propagation of freak roses is rapidly reducing the most vivid and dignified of all flowers to the level of a third-rate revue at a provincial theatre. Those roses, when planted by the amateur, are unreal, flimsy and often scentless. Let us back to the more old-fashioned kinds—to the damask rose of England, to York and Lancaster, and to 'Tuscan'. Or, if you like art shades in roses, then stick to the lovely 'Betty' 'Up' 'richard' or even to 'Shot Silk' 'Londoner' in the Evening Standard.

Before Abraham's Time.

Lord Allenby, and Mr. Howard Carter, who went to Egypt to find the tomb of Tutankhamen, were among those invited by the Egyptian Minister to the Legation in South Audley Street to hear Sir Finders Petrie's account of the discovery of Old Giza, a Syrian town that was a highly civilised place 4,000 years ago. You could feel the drama of history when Sir Finders said simply: "When Abraham passed that way, with his flock this town had already ended its life and was a deserted ruin."

A Possidon Survivor.

In two years Lieutenant Norman W. Fisher, the 24-year-old son of Sir Warren Fisher, the head of the English Civil Service, has gone through two submarine experiences which should satisfy any man's sense of adventure. He was one of those who escaped when H.M.S. Possidon was sunk, and in July, 1929, he was on the L 12 when she was dragged under after colliding with the ill-fated H 47. He has again applied for service in another submarine. When Lieutenant Fisher was flung into the sea in the mishap, two years ago, off the Pembrokehead coast, he swam for 20 minutes until he was picked up.

Britain's Woodlands.

As a result of the Forestry Commission's operations last year, 14,155 acres were added to the woodland area of Great Britain. No fewer than 63,493,000 trees were used, of which 44 per cent. were Scots and Corsican pines, 26 per cent. Norwegian and Sitka Spruces, 13 per cent. European and Japanese larches, and 5 per cent. Douglas fir. The total area acquired during the forest year 1930-31 amounted to 58,482 acres, of which 34,508 acres were plantable. The main objectives of the Commissioners are to plant 353,000 acres and to establish 3,000 workers' holdings during the second ten-year period of their operations, 1930 being the first year of the decade.

Trotsky at the Seaside.

Of all the stirring announcements in the London papers, the one that moves one most is that of Trotsky's holiday visit to the watering-place of Yalova. There is something especially moving in the thought of a retired Bolshevik at the seaside, and to see the Terrible Trotsky in his hours of ease paddling and shrimping at Yalova—if paddling and shrimping are allowed under the Five Years' Plan. Connoisseurs in watering-places say that Yalova has not quite the tone of Margate, but the Proletarian Pigeonhole on the pier quite make up for that.

As Usual.

On the Zambesi there was once a plague of "croc." Big "croc," medium-sized "croc," baby "croc"—were sapping the life of the country, and in despair the Government offered a reward of two shillings for every crocodile's egg. All went well. The natives worked like beavers. Both Government and people were happy. Then big business came along in the shape of a Jewish trader. Fired by what seemed a desire for greater efficiency in alligator extermination, he increased the Government reward for "croc" eggs from one penny to twopence. Again there was joy on the Zambesi. The natives made more money; the Government seemed to be saving theirs—until one day an inspector visited the Jew's bungalow. He found the Jew, stick in hand, watching over thousands of eggs which were hatching in the sun. As the baby "croc" emerged, he hit them on the head. Then, cutting off their tails, he threw them on to the pile which he was sending to the Government for the two-shilling reward.

It appears that the previous night one of their comrades had been assaulted by the Chinese and this so influenced the men that arming themselves with sticks they proceeded to Yauwatti, where they paraded the streets and maltreated all with whom they came in contact. They brought their sticks down on the heads of men and women, and naturally a great commotion was created. The police were powerless to cope with the rioters and a message was sent from the police station to the officer in charge of the Baluchis. In a short time a detachment was despatched to Yauwatti and the riot quelled by the disorderly soldiers submitting to military authority. A native woman had to be sent to hospital suffering from severe injuries to the head. A lunk was also injured on the head and several others reported wounds of a less serious nature.—Hong Kong Daily Press, August 24, 1931.

Looking Back 50 Years.

In his speech at the Legislative Council meeting on Tuesday His Excellency the Governor, in introducing the estimates for 1932, again had the satisfaction of pointing to an augmented revenue and declaring a surplus. In the absence of the details, criticism is of little value, but the totals given by the Governor, indicate a gratifying state of prosperity. The revenue in 1930 amounted to $1,089,041, being an excess over the estimates of $45,000; the estimated revenue 1932 is $1,151,890, an increase of $62,849, which in all probability will prove much larger, as the Governor's estimates hitherto have been well within the mark. No illusion is made in His Excellency's deliverance to any contemplated reduction in the rates; but in the face of the figures quoted some relief in this direction may very reasonably be expected. No Public Works of any great cost are to be undertaken immediately, and it is unfair to the present generation of taxpayers that they should be compelled to accumulate an unneeded surplus for posterity. The income from taxes is steadily increasing, proof of which fact is afforded by the statement of His Excellency that in 1930 the receipts from this source were forty-seven thousand dollars more than the sum estimated.—Hong Kong Daily Press, August 23, 1931.

RESIGNATION OF GOVERNMENT IMMINENT.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS REMAINS ADAMANT.

MR. BALDWIN AND SIR HERBERT SAMUEL SUMMONED BY THE KING.

[REUTER AND BRITISH WIRELESS.]

London, August 23.

There is not yet any suggestion of the Government's resignation, but an official communiqué states that on Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's advice His Majesty the King summoned Mr. Baldwin and Sir Herbert Samuel as he wishes to hear from them what the position of their respective parties is.

Mr. MacDonald spent an hour at Buckingham Palace immediately after the King's return from Scotland. Sir Herbert Samuel was summoned to the Palace at 12.30 p.m. He and Lord Reading spent the morning with Mr. Lloyd George, who is well enough to sit in an armchair.

Mr. Baldwin conferred this morning at Conservative headquarters with Mr. Neville Chamberlain and Sir Samuel Hoare.

The Liberal shadow Cabinet meets this afternoon.

H.M. THE KING INTERVENES.

Political circles construe the latest development as a sign that His Majesty the King is using his personal influence to achieve what the Government has been attempting for the past fortnight, namely, a three-party agreement on a common policy to meet the grave emergency.

Sir Herbert Samuel spent half an hour at Buckingham Palace.

CONSERVATIVES DISSATISFIED.

The momentous decision of whether the Government will continue in office and continue the task of balancing the Budget, or resign is likely to be taken to-day.

It appears definite that the Government is willing to proceed with the economy proposals defying the Trades Union Congress if it can obtain the support of Liberals and Conservatives.

The Conservatives are so far dissatisfied with the inadequacy of the economy proposals and the Cabinet amended its proposals yesterday in an attempt to conciliate them, but it is uncertain whether it will have this effect.

The seriousness of the position, and the difficulties of the Government, are emphasised by a decision of the Cabinet to meet on Sunday. Only in a time of grave emergency, such as a general strike or war, have such meetings been held.

MINISTERS NOT CONFIDENT.

London, August 23.

After the Cabinet meeting this afternoon it was officially announced that the Cabinet had been putting the finishing touches to a scheme which, it is believed, will meet the situation. The Cabinet will meet to hear the results to-morrow.

The consultations will continue to-morrow between Government and the Opposition.

The Cabinet will meet at 7 p.m. At present Ministers are not all confident that agreement will be reached.

It is generally believed that if the Government does not receive an assured measure of support from the Opposition it will resign, for the T.U.C. remains adamant. Members of the T.U.C. are remaining in London in case they are required. The Economic Committee meets on Wednesday and it will then be decided whether it will be necessary to re-summon the General Council before its meeting at Bristol. Whatever policy may be framed by the Government it cannot be put into operation till Parliament meets and the T.U.C. timetable permits the proposals being fully considered at Bristol before the Government submits its plans to Parliament.

In view of the political crisis H.M. the King is leaving Balmoral for London this evening. The news that H.M. the King is on his way to London is interpreted in this evening's newspapers as meaning that the resignation of the Government is imminent.

Rugby, August 23.

The King, who arrived Balmoral yesterday, has decided to return to London in order to keep in closer touch with any further developments in the political situation.

The special train in which His Majesty, accompanied by H.M. the Queen, is travelling left Balmoral at six o'clock this evening.

CONSERVATIVE-LIBERAL GOVERNMENT SUGGESTED.

London, Aug. 21.

After a day of drama, excitement and feverish negotiations behind the scenes, the breach between the Government and the powerful Trade Union body remains complete.

The Trade Union Congress refuses to believe the crisis is so grave as to warrant sacrifices by workers and the unemployed and demands that no decision be taken till the Trade Union Congress meeting at Bristol on September 7 is consulted.

Moreover, it is believed that if Government persists with its proposals some of the Ministers, notably Mr. Tom Johnson and Mr. Lansbury will resign.

At the same time Opposition leaders are insisting upon the most substantial economies and pressing for the earliest decision. Consequently the position of Government is most precarious and resignation is possible, and it is even suggested that Mr. Baldwin may soon head a Conservative Government.

Faced with a fear of a flight from the pound sterling, it is most unlikely that Mr. Snowden will consent to any whittling down of the proposed economies.

On the other hand, the Government will do everything to avoid resignation as it would be intolerable to have to face the electorate and say: "We have resigned because we are unable to solve the problem, but we now ask you to return us in order to face the same problem."

There remains the possibility of the Government defying the T.U.C., which would mean a split and possibility a break-up of the Labour Party.

Resignation Threats.

It is generally assumed that the Government will proceed with its programme without opening further negotiations with the T.U.C. Meanwhile, it is understood that the emergency tariff scheme was definitely rejected by the Government when the Free Traders Mr. Philip Snowden and Mr. A. V. Alexander threatened to resign.

Government's efforts to devise proposals for balancing the Budget which would be assured of a wide measure of approval among all Parties in the House of Commons were continued throughout to-day. It is understood considerable progress is being made as the result of conferences during the past few days on which soundings have been taken among representatives of (Continued on next column.)

CONDITION SATISFACTORY AFTER OPERATION.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Aug. 23.

AMERICAN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS.

BETTY NUTHALL BEATEN.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Forest Hill, Aug. 22.

In the American Tennis Championship singles semi-final Mrs. Whittingstall (Britain) beat Miss Betty Nuthall (Britain), the holder, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

Mrs. Willis Moody (U.S.A.) beat Miss Midford (Britain) 6-2, 6-4. Betty's defeat was surprising but it must be remembered that Mrs. Whittingstall beat Betty at Ealing earlier in the year.

Miss Nuthall appeared to be at sea in the first set driving out or putting into the net all her returns, while Mrs. Whittingstall made beautiful shots from the ground. Miss Nuthall made a thrilling come back in the second set serving powerfully, sending over devastating back-hand shots and generally outplaying her rival. Mrs. Whittingstall became erratic but recovered in the third set in which, with her hard driving, she swept her way to a 4-1 lead. Miss Nuthall, however, fought every inch and drew up to 4-5 before Mrs. Whittingstall won.

The Government's supporters and leaders of the Opposition Parties.

A broad outline of the economy measures were laid before the General Council of the Trades Union Congress yesterday, when its members, together with the National Executive of the Labour Party, attended a joint meeting which was addressed by the Prime Minister.

The Labour Executive later decided to leave the position with the Government, but the General Council, after considerable discussion, communicated its views to the Prime Minister through a deputation which was received at Downing Street late last night.

The position revealed by these conferences was reviewed at a full meeting of the Cabinet which was held this morning. The meeting lasted for over four hours. At its conclusion Mr. Neville Chamberlain and Sir Samuel Hoare, representing the Conservatives, and Sir Herbert Samuel and Sir Donald MacLennan, on behalf of the Liberals, were again summoned to meet the Prime Minister and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. They remained at No. 10 Downing Street for about two hours, during which other Ministers arrived to take part in the discussions. They resumed conversations after dinner to-night.

A further meeting of the Cabinet has been summoned for 9.30 to-morrow morning. It is assumed that at its conclusion an official statement of the Government's plans will be made. Meanwhile, little reliance can be attached to details of published forecasts.

Mr. Baldwin Returns.

The Conservative leader Mr. Stanley Baldwin travelled to-day from Aix-les-Bains, where he has been on holiday, to Paris. While at Aix-les-Bains, Mr. Baldwin has been kept in close touch with the situation and, according to a statement issued by the Conservative Central Office he has now decided to return to London.

London, August 22.

With the possibility of resignation, either of the whole Government or individual Ministers looming on the horizon, the Cabinet continued its economy deliberations at 4.30 o'clock this morning, adjourning at mid-day until the afternoon.

This was the first Saturday on which a Cabinet Meeting has been held since the critical days of War time.

Tense political excitement surrounding the deliberations drew a considerable crowd to Downing Street.

Immediately the Cabinet rose, Conference with Opposition Leaders was resumed.

It is anticipated that a statement embodying Government's intentions will be issued at the close of this afternoon's Cabinet meeting. Among the crop of rumours and forecasts offered by political observers, perhaps the most interesting is that Conservatives have suggested to Liberals the formation of a joint Conservative-Liberal administration, with Mr. Lloyd George as Chancellor of the Exchequer.

VICEROY'S FIRM STAND.

REPLY TO GANDHI'S "CHARGE SHEET."

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Simla, Aug. 21.

The letter from the Viceroy, replying to Mahatma Gandhi's "charge sheet" denies Gandhi's allegation of breaches of the Irwin-Gandhi Pact on the part of Government.

The Viceroy contends that the activities of Congress in many directions has been contrary both to the spirit and letter of the settlement, and involved the constant menace of the maintenance of peace.

The Viceroy argues that it is a complete misreading of the situation to suggest that there has been either absence of goodwill on the part of local Governments in working for a settlement or any design to crush Congress workers.

It is the intention of the Government of India to restrict their action to the requirements of any special situation, and to avoid special measures as far as possible.

As regards Gandhi's demand for an arbitration tribunal, the Viceroy says that Government is unable to fetter their discretion or that of local Governments.

SCHNEIDER TROPHY RACE.

FRANCE AND ITALY MAY NOT COMPETE.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, August 21.

It is understood that in the event of Italians and French deciding not to compete for the Schneider Trophy in the race on September 12 the British team will fly round the course at the highest speed attainable on the new machines which are confidently expected to considerably exceed last year's figure.

However, although the intentions of the Italians and the French are still unknown, strong hopes are held at Calshot that both countries will be represented.

It is anticipated that their final decision cannot be delayed much longer and will probably be reached at the week-end.

It will be recalled that on August 1 the Bank obtained authority to increase its fiduciary issue by £15,000,000 to this figure for a period of three weeks, which expires to-morrow. To-day's minute says the Bank has represented to the Chancellor of the Exchequer that it is expected to maintain the increase in the fiduciary note issue.

BRITAIN'S FIGHTING FORCES.

TOTAL COST £108,000,000.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London, August 22.

According to particulars now disclosed of the British memorandum, recently forwarded to Geneva, detailing the material and personnel of existing armaments and the expenditure thereon, the total outlay on the British Navy, Army and Air Forces is £108,000,000, just under £20,000,000 of which relates to naval expenditure. The amount does not include pensions. Military returns do not include Colonial Government forces of which returns will be made very soon. Though the number does not exceed a few thousands of pounds the Dominions and India make their own returns to Geneva.

The return shows the importance Government attaches to the principle of budgetary control as an instrument for disarmament.

It is emphasised that the figures presented are unrelated to the proposals which Government will submit to the Disarmament Conference in 1932. No discussion of policy is contained in the memorandum.

WATER STILL RISING IN HANKOW DISTRICT

DYSENTERY AND TYPHOID CLAIMING MANY VICTIMS DAILY.

TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE PERISH SINCE START OF FLOODS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Hankow, August 22.

Reuter's special correspondent yesterday toured the Native City and found the water to be ten, twelve and fifteen feet deep in different parts.

The water mark is now 33 feet four inches and is still rising, and all travelling is by sampan, junk and motor-boat.

Thousands of one-storied houses are submerged by the floods and collapses continue hourly.

The military authorities have forcibly removed thousands of refugees from roofs, but thousands remain stunned, apathetically awaiting their fate. It is a serious fact that superstition holds thousands in its grip and they are convinced that Hankow is doomed and refuse to help themselves, or to be helped, and are merely awaiting death.

SUFFERING AND DISASTER BEYOND DESCRIPTION.

Native areas in Hankow and Wuchang are places of misery, desolation and death. At least 10,000 have perished since the floods overwhelmed the cities, 400,000 are homeless and destitute, while dysentery and typhoid are claiming many victims daily. Doctors believe that when the floods subside, which will probably be in September, serious epidemics must rage.

So far no apparent progress has been made for feeding the multitude of starving destitutes. Chaos is on every hand and the suffering and disaster is beyond description. Very little food is procurable and there are no vegetables.

The threat of a famine is becoming more serious daily and immediate relief is required to save thousands of lives. It is a stupendous task which certainly cannot be organised locally.

2,000,000 DEATHS PREDICTED.

Hankow, Later.

Wuhan is sighing for relief.

To-day the water is steady, but, while there is a limit even to these ghastly floods, the misery is unlimited.

Standard Oil Company of New York officials tell me this morning that their survey of Hupeh shows that 35,000 square miles (half the province) is flooded and estimate that 5,000,000 are homeless and destitute, while in Hunan 25,000 square miles are flooded and 2,000,000 people are destitute. It is a physical impossibility to estimate the deaths in these provinces but they unquestionably will reach 2,000,000.

Deaths in Wuhan, alone from starvation and disease, are now 1,000 daily. All the corpses are being thrown into the river together with dead dogs, donkeys and horses.

IMMEDIATE SCHEME OF RELIEF IMPOSSIBLE.

It is becoming widely recognised that no scheme of immediate relief is possible, owing to lack of facilities for transportation of food.

Relentless Nature, which brought the floods, must be left to complete her ravages. When her toll of millions has been taken human endeavour can step in to save what remains.

Flood relief officials, and S.O.C.O.N.Y. representatives who yesterday flew to the Han River report the same monotonous story of water as far as the eye reaches, and that innumerable refugees are crowding the dyke-tops, which are only a foot above the water. They are without means of subsistence and must gradually succumb to starvation, disease and exposure.

RED CROSS WORLD-WIDE APPEAL.

Geneva, August 23.

The International Red Cross Committee and League Red Cross Societies have appealed on behalf of Hankow to all Red Cross societies in the World, and has arranged with the Chinese Red Cross to undertake the distribution of gifts received from the various nations.

San Francisco, August 22.

An appeal to all Chinese in America to raise funds for the relief of the Yangtze flood victims was made at a meeting of Chinese in China town here to-day.

Washington, August 21.

The Red Cross of China has sent the following S.O.S. to the American Red Cross:—

"Flood conditions appalling. Victims suffering intensely. Kindly assist."

The American Red Cross is sending $100,000 to the United States Consul-General at Hankow.

TELEVISION IN THE CINEMA.

"AS EARLY AS OCTOBER."

The possibility of television being introduced in British cinema in the near future was mentioned to the House of Commons Standing Committee on the Sunday Performances Bill.

Urging that before the report stage of the Bill the Attorney-General (Sir William Jowett) should consider "this highly important prospect," Mr. Bemer (O. Macclesfield) said:—

"It has been stated that as early as next October it will be possible for a company of actors operating in a studio in America to be shown in 40 or 50 cinemas in this country.

"This is a matter of very considerable moment in view of the fact that this Committee has rejected the proposal that this Bill should include stage plays (Hear, hear.)"

"It is very important from the standpoint of actors and actresses, and it should, I think, make a difference to the Committee's consideration."

The Committee rejected a proposal by Mr. Rhys Davies (Llanwrthwl) that no Sunday opening of cinemas should be permitted between April and September inclusive.

LAWN BOWLS LEAGUE.

KOWLOON C.C. AND CRAIGENGOWER BOTH LOSE: FORMER WIN THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

BOWLING GREEN CLUB NOW WELL PLACED FOR THE JUNIOR HONOURS.

Kowloon C.C. again suffered defeat at the hands of Civil Service, but Craigengower also went down at Taikeo to put them out of the race and to make Kowloon C.C. the champions for the first time. In the other senior division game, Club de Recreio avenged their defeat by the Bowling Green Club.

The Bowling Green Club and Taikeo were both successful in the junior games and the honours are more or less safely in the hands of the former. If the Bowling Green Club lose their last game with the Civil Service, Taikeo can only qualify for a replay by winning against Kowloon C.C. The Yacht Club and Kowloon C.C. were the other winners during the afternoon.

SEPOY ROYAL CUP.

INTER-DEPT. MATCH.

SMALL UNITS BEATEN BY THE POLICE.

In the Inter-Departmental Competition for the Goscombe O'Sullivan Cup the Police defeated the Small Units yesterday and entered the final.

After eight heads the Small Units were leading by one shot, but the Police took three heads in succession with 4, 3 and 2 to bring the score to 14-8. Assisted by some good work by Westlake, the Small Units took the 15th and 16th heads, scoring two in each, and they crept up to within five shots when it seemed that they would make it their turning point as in their game with the P.W.D. The Police, however, played good bowls, especially Reynolds, and they increased their lead with 2, 1, 1, 1, the last head going to the Small Units for a single. The Police thus won by nine shots.

The following were the teams: Police, Small Units: J. Oram, W. Ward, A. N. Reynolds, H. Westlake, J. Shepherd, A. O. Brown, W. Maier, Deakin.

HELENA OUTPLAYED

SATURDAY'S BASEBALL SURPRISE.

LEAGUE HOPES DASHED.

The U.S.S. Helena's hopes for league honours were dashed as a result of the baseball game played on Saturday at Caroline Hill Stadium, when the Hong Kong Baseball Team took them to a fall with a score of 10-3. The sailors could not afford to lose any of their games if they wanted to come out on top and they were beaten by one of the so-called weak teams.

The game was a big surprise for ball fans and was packed with plenty of thrills and wild play. The pitching of the sailors was pretty rotten and Shellenberger was way off his usual play. He seemed stale and pitched an erratic game all through. The fielding was as poor as the pitching and the gobs reverted to their old habit of not caring. They had plenty of errors chalked up against them which showed how bad they were playing.

Too Strong for the Gobs.

Ruffin came out for the Hong Kong team and pitched a pretty game and he was well backed by both the in-field and the out-field. Thompson caught the hot ones for the Hong Kong boys and the combination was too much for the sailors.

Hong Kong came to bat first and brought in 4 runs. They started to slam Shellenberger all over the field from the start and the fielders were unable to bring in the hard hits. The sailors had no chance at all and did not bring in a single man.

In the second, both teams garnered two points and it looked as though the sailors were going to start in and play ball. They brought in another man in the third and the score was a little too close for the Hong Kong team who started out in the fifth and brought two men across the plate. The sailors then went to pieces and were not able to make another run during the rest of the game. Hong Kong duplicated in the sixth and made the score 10-3. As far as scoring went, the game was over, and the teams remained the same at the end of the seventh.

The best play of the game was when Zafra slammed out a pretty homer over centre field which was so high that the man who was covering that position for the gobs could not get under it.

YESTERDAY'S GAME.

CHINESE ATHLETIC SWAMPED.

A slow, uninteresting game was played at Caroline Hill Stadium yesterday when the South China Baseball Team wiped the lot with the Chinese Athletic Club. The game ended with a final score of 15-3.

The boys from Canton were outplayed from the beginning and had no chance against the much stronger local players. E. Chang took the mound for the South China and sure pitched a good game all through. Several times the Canton boys had him in a hole but he was always able to dig his way out. In the last of the fourth he walked the first two men and allowed the next man to get safely on first. The bases were full and nobody out but the next three men struck out and the Chinese Athletic lost their only chance of the game.

Neither side were able to score in the first two innings and it seemed

SALVAGING THE ST. PHILIBERT.

WRECK TO BE BEACHED AS SOON AS WEATHER PERMITS.

Paris, July 24.—The salvage of the St. Philibert has now been all but accomplished. Four large steel cables in the form of slings have been passed under the hull, and are suspended from the German salvage vessel Kraft, belonging to the Hamburg firm which is undertaking the operations.

The Kraft is anchored immediately over the St. Philibert, and heading in the same direction. She carries several thousands of tons of water ballast which is contained in specially constructed holds, and all that is necessary to do to raise the wreck is to pump out these holds.

As she is lightened the Kraft rises in the water lifting the wreck out of its bed. She is then towed with the St. Philibert still suspended under her to the nearest point of the coast where the sunken vessel is beached at high tide.

At low water the wreck will be uncovered, and it will be possible to search the interior for the bodies of those who are supposed to have gone down with the ship in the disaster.

The theory that several people were imprisoned in the cabins is strengthened by the appearance yesterday while the divers were adjusting the slings of a corpse that the work had evidently dislodged from its watery grave.

SHIP CRASHES INTO ICEBERG.

SAVED BY LEDGE.

Copenhagen, July 28.—A passenger ship's crash into an iceberg and her narrow escape from a disaster similar to that which overtook the Titanic were reported here when the vessel—the Disko—arrived from Greenland.

The Disko, the Greenland Government's newest motor-ship, had 60 passengers on board, and was steaming slowly through thick fog in Umanak Fjord at midnight when the collision occurred.

The captain had just avoided an iceberg when the "look-out" sighted a huge berg right ahead. It was impossible to get round the great mass of ice, and although the engine was reversed, the ship bore into the berg, running luckily on an ledge below the surface and so avoiding damage under the waterline.

The passengers were called on deck and the boats were swung out, but with everybody ready to leave, the ship slid clear of the berg with only slight damage to her stern, which was repaired with cement.
